An Anecdote of Washington Irving.

Many years ago—in fact, back in the thirties—Dr. Grant, of Enfield, whose reputation as a physician in Connecticut is still in memory of the first rank after years of retirement from practice, in South Caroline, him. was traveling in South Carolina, his native State, going by stage from Savannah to Augusta. At a certain stopping-place it was found that there were more passengers than the stage could carry, and an extra was ordered for the accomodation of five passengers. These passengers were John Forsyth, of Georgia, John Branch, Postmaster-General, George McDuilie, of South Carolina, Dr. Grant, and an unknown gentleman. The party soon became talkative, and by degrees all knew who each one was, with the exception of the each one was, with the exception of the one silent stranger. As the stage creaked along, the attention of Dr. Grant, who was a lad at that date, was attracted by a little dog following the stage, which reminded him of one described by Washington Irving in Astoria, which he had just been reading. He was laughing quietly to himself, when one of the gentlemen insisted that he should rell them the cause of his he should tell them the cause of his amusement, that they might join in the fun. Dr. Grant said: That little dog reminds me of Washington Irving's klog, whose skin was so tight that it alrew up his hind-legs."

This led to a talk about Irving, in which all joined except the unknown man. One of the gentlemen then appealed to him, and asked if he did not ahink Irving one of our wittiest and most delightful writers. The person appealed to replied that he could not say that he did. The gentlemen all expressed their astonishment, and one of them persisted in demanding why he admiration of the favorite author.

"Have you ever read any of his work?" they asked.

"Yes," was the reply.

produced?"
"Well, no," the unknown replied; "I can not say that I see anything remarkable in it."
"Well," said the other, "then you must be Washington Irving himself, for no one else could resist the humor and oathos of his pen.

The unknown colored to the roots of his hair, but made no reply, and his tormentor continued: "Come, tell us the truth; are you not The poor man at last blushingly con-

An Indian Fourth of July.

That Fourth of July morning I shall never forget. We were awakened by the most blood-curdling yells that ever pierced the ears of three white boys. It was the Indian war-whoop. I found myself instinctively feeling for my back hair, and regretting the distance to the radroad. We lingered indoors in a rather terrified condition, until we found out that this was simply the beginning of the day's celebration. It was the "sham-fight;" but it looked real enough, when the Indians came tearing by, their ponies seeming to enter into There were some five hundred in fall frills and war-paint, and all giv-ing those terrible yells.

color-paint, feathers, and more paint, with an occasional shirt. One litle boy, whose name was Shake-to-pa (Four Nails,) had five feathers -big ones, too-in his hair. His face was painted; he wore great round ear rings, and rows of beads and claws around his neck; bands of beads on his little bare brown arms; embroidered leggins and beautiful moceasins, and a ong piece of red cloth hanging from his waist. In fact, ho was as gayly dressed as a grown-up Indian man, and he had a comming little war-club, all ornamented and painted. For weapons, they carried guns, ritter and long spears. Bows and arrows seemed to be out of style. A few had round shields on their left arms. Most of the tepees had been collected ogether and pitched so as to form a large circle, and their wagons were placed outside this circle so as to make a sort of protection for the defending party. The attacking party, brandishing their weapons in the air with increased yells, rushed their excited and panting ponies up the slope toward the tepees, where they were met by a rapid idischarge of blank cartridges and powder. Some of the ponies became rightened and unmanageable, several riders were unhorsed, and general confusion prevailed. The entrenched party, in the meantime, rushed out from behind their defenses, climbing on top of their wagons, yelling and dancing around like demons. Added to this the sight of several riderless ponies fly ing wildly from the tumult made this shim-light have a terribly realistic look.

THE HOUSE WE LIVE IN.

We heard a man say, he cared little what he ate, so there was plenty of it. What a shabby conception of the house he lived in. A palace and a hovel were all the same to him. Another class are as blindly careless of the outside. In either case a man cheats himself. The recovering of a house should look well and do well. The prim newness is marvelous, but it should be lasting. Whether a coat of paint, or a Coat of Broadcloth, Worsted or Cheviot-insist on good quality—that don't grow rusty with summer rains.

Does your house need it? Is it worth a new coat of something to lighten it up? If so, call at

Two Very Serious Objections. Mr. Daniel Warner, un old citizen of Rochaster, N. Y., and a life long Domograt, published a letter giving his reasons for refusing to support Grover Cleveland for the Presidency. Ho anys life objections to Cleveland are "both political and moral." We quote the following extracts:

My political reasons are that he has been tried as a Democrat and found wanting. When nominated for Governor in 1882 he was un known outside the city of Buthdo, and was taken by the Democratic Hinto Convention upon trust on the representations of the local Demoeratic leaders of that city. In the platform upon which he was elected. and in his letter of acceptance, he stood pledged to the protection of the people against the encroachments and unlist exactions of corporations. The two chief acts the first year of his Administration were to violate this pledge and trample it under foot.

In closing Mr. Warner says The moral reasons for opposing (Naveland's election are delicate to touch or handle. And, happily, recont publications by the clergy and prose of his own city of Bullalo, exposing his gross and licentious life there, readers clateration unneceseary. Even upon the admissions of his own trievils and apologists, Olovoland is such an impure and lumoral man that his elevation to the Older Magistracy of our 60,000,-500 of people would be to sink this people to the depths of his own immoral level.

An old man, closing a long and eventful life, nearing the verge of the grave, and always a Democrat, God forbid that I should prove a traitor to my principles, my country and my consciouce, by supporting or voting for Grover Cleveland for Prosident of the United States.

All candld mon must acknowledge that Mr. Warner's reasons for opposing Oleveland are cogent and Instiffable.

Wallasif, Ind., August 6 .- An outrage which will disgrace this entire section of the State was perpetrated here on Monday evening. The Courier, edited by Lee Linn, a writer of considerable ability, changed its politics about six months ago. It had been a Democratic paper, but, for reasons which its editor gave fully, it becamo Republican, and very strongly so. This town is Democratic, and the Democrats living here and in this vicinity are of the most intense Bourbon stripe. Several threats have been made against Linn because of his onslaughts on the Democratic party.

On Monday evening Linn was walking on the street when he met a farmer named Stone, to whom no spoke grantly. Stone is a bitter partisan, and shothest warning he without the slightest warning gave Linn a severe blow on the face with a heavy stick. Linn then knocked Stone down. Two sons of the latter then rushed on Linn, threw him down and kleked him in the face and body. other Democrats coming up joined in the assault, and Linn was finally resened more dead than allve. There is considerable excitement in the town. Stone, Sr., 19 In jall.

THE AMALGAMATED CONVEN-

A Rad-Hot Time Expected. PITTSBURGH, PA., August 7 .-- At yesterday's session for the Amalgamated Convention, the different standing committes were announced, and the annual reports of the officers and trustees were submitted. A resolution was unanimous y adopted requesting President Arthur to appoint John Jarrett as Chief of the Bureau of Labor Stastics. The natiers held a meeting at the Association headquarters, at which the reeders demanded recognition by the Association. Heretofore each nailer em-ployed his own feeder, and the latter

A Colored Delegate to a Trades' Con-vention. CINCINNATI, O., August 7 .- At the Carpenters and Joiners' Convention yesterday morning, the report of the General Sceretary P. J. McGuire was read and referred to its appropriate committee. T. E. Rames, a colored delegate from Charleston, S. C., made an interesting and eloquent speech on trades' unionism in the South. He said that his local union told him that he would not be allowed a seat in the convention, and strenuously opposed the expense involved in his coming. A telegram of congratulation was also received from the Amaiga-maten from and Steel Workers, now assembled In convention at Pittsburgh, Pa., in reply to one sent by the carpenters.

CATHOLIC TEETOTALERS. National Convention of the Catholic

Total Abstinence Union. CHICAGO, ILL., August 6 .- Central Musle Hall was crowded this morning, the occasion being the opening of the National Convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union. Over 500 delegates were on the floor, representing Catholics of all nationalities lie every section of the Union, and including eight Archbishops and Bishops, and forty Priests. The Convention was called to order at eight o'clock, but immediately took a recess. Two hours were occupied in presentng reports from the various Unions.

The Committee on Credentials reported 65 delegates in attendance with 681 votes.

Delegate Fennessy, of Boston, claimed for his delegation the right to cast the full vote of their Union. This was restated by James II. Campbell, of Philadelphia, and overruled by the Chair. Addresses were delivered by Arch bishops Feehan and Elder who were en thusiastically received, and the Convention adjourned ustil 10 a. m. to-day.

General Hatch Preparing to March Against Payne's Party. Caldwill, Kas., August 7 .- General Hatch moved his headquarters from this elty into the field yesterday, the camp being twenty-five miles southeast on the Chickaskia River, where six companies of the Ninth Cavalry are concentrated. Ills future movements are not made pub-He, but there is no doubt that from this time forward blows will fall thick and fast until the last intruder has been expelled. An impression prevails that the nest at Rock Falls, a few infles below Hinnewell will be raided first, the printing press belongings confiscated contents of the not notorious contents drug store destroyed, and that Payne and his impleaders will be marched to Fort Smith to answer numerous indictments in the Federal Court. The valley settlement will probably be cleared up next by detachments of troops striking simultaneously from numerous camps along the Camarron and the North Fork of the Canadian Rivers. Every consideration possible will be shown the women and children, but the men, especially old offenders, must take the consequences of their unlawful and high-handed conduct. All improvements will be destroyed. The best information attainable places the number of "Boomers" at 2,000.

FRANKLIN, PA., August 7 .- A very peculiar and horrible case of cruelty and forced her to remove all her clothing and beat her with a switch until the blood ran then did she agree to make the charge until he had punished her in manner still more cruel and too borrible to mention.

Finally, by threatening her life, he accomplished his foul design. Banks was incarrerated to await trial. A little girt who had witnessed part of the crue treatment told the story to a gentleman, who, upon investigation, had Johnson arrested. Johnson's wife, on being assured of protection by the officers, toid

The venrable editor of the Gainesrille (Ga.) Southron, who has unsworvingly supported the Democratic ticket for thirty years, declares for Blaine. He says of his old party: "In the North it has degenerated into a heterogeneous and hungry crew of irresponsible placehunters, with a few good men who are conspicuous because they are lonely, and on whose garments is the unsavery oder of corrupt associations. In the South the party partially exists because of a sentiment far more honorable, but not less disastrons to orderly government. At the head of its columns still gleams, in Democratic fancy, the red cross battle Hag of the Confederacy."

THE Boston correspondent of the Springfield Republican reports that the Democratic leaders in Massachusetts, perceiving that Butler is not with them, have concluded that he is against them and counted him out accordingly. The Greenback leaders say, according to the same authority, that their quasi candidate is all right and will declare his intentions as soon as he has perused Governor Cleveland's letter of acceptance. They think that patience may as well be allowed to have her perfect work, since there is no reason to suppose that impatience would produce the slightest result.

NILES' Patent Locks and Knobs.

These goods possess MANY POINTS OF EX-CELLENCE over the old pattern locks and knobs, which are too numerous to mention in an advertisement like this.

THIS ONE POINT SHOULD COMMEND THEM:

The ROSE, instead of being a small round piece, with short screws, is ELONGATED, combining in ONE PIECE both ROSE and KEY ES. CUTCHEON, and extends ABOVE and BELOW the mortise of the Lock, so that the one inch screws (which are packed with the Knoks) enter the SOLID WOOD.

The party who uses, and the mechanic who puts on these Locks, will have no use for any other when their advantages are known,

Soon after 10 o'clock this forencon Thomas Fields, colored, brother of Stanton Fields, started to cross over the Illinois Central railroad bridge, near the water works, coming from the south, at which time the south-bound fast mail and passenger train was coming from the north at a lively rate of speed. Tom doubtless thought at the start that he could reach the north end of the bridge before the train struck it, but he made a miscalculation. He soon discovered his perilous position and he at once proceeded to save himself if possible. He was directly over the north bank of the river, when he started to get down between the ties and hang on to the timbers below. In the excitement of the moment he failed to get his left hand off the rail, to which he ching as he lowered himself, and the wheels of the engine crushed the hand close up to the wrist, severing the thumb entirely. The unfortunate man fell to the ground below, a distance of 12 or 15 feet, where the train men found him. Neither the engineer nor the fireman saw the man on the bridge, but a passenger who was looking out of the window happened to see the hand on the rail. He told the conductor of the train what he had seen, and the train backed up from the junction and found Fields under the bridge as already described. He was in great pain and blood lowed freely from the arm. He was placed in the baggage car and brought to the depot, and taken thence in an express wagon to the Drs. Chenoweth office, ed. It so, it will be the largest camp ever where the hand was amputated a few their clothing. On the way to the doctors' office Fields kept talking incoherently of his wife and small child. He was removed to his home soon after

THE other day the department at Washington wrote Postmaster Lytic asking the population of Decatur as learned at the last count of noses. Ebel & Co., who compiled the directory, made the count 13,000 in September, 1883, and those figures were forwarded. It is possible that some definite statement will soon be received as to when Decatur will get the free mail delivery system.

College President as a Judge of

Do you know that this city has a college older, wealthier, finer in its educitional qualities and above all, handsomer in its presidency, than any, other in the land? Probably you don't Harsard and Yalo are so much bigge than the towns contining them that they have become distinctive, while Columbia is only one amoung numerous New York institutions, and is iela-tively belittled by its metropolitan environments. But we are rather proud of President Barnard. His long and white, he bungarily so placed and his profunity so enormous, that he holds his own among men much better than his college docs among colleges Wherever an assemblage holds him, he as the figurehead of that assemblage This is true especially of fushionable parlor gatherngs. There are circles in which culture 19 the religion and he the prophet Not to say that we presume to compare, much less compete, with Boston in any such way but we possess severalivery good imit itions of Bostonian thoughts of transcendent dism You would believe it had you seen President Burnard the other evening as the blind sign in a groupe of pupils metaphorically learning at his feet. And then you would hugh at the recollection of the chmax of the scene. Bain ird's blindness was tempor u.y. his eyes being bandaged to keep the light away from chance company or garls, some of whom belonged to the class which is graciously; permitted to enjoy a few of the privi-leges of Columbia.
